

Computers In Primary Care: Report Of The Computer Working Party

Example 3

Excerpt from consultation TS-GP09-05

GP: (quietly) that'd be good and I was just gonna check and see when you last had blood tests march oh six
(2-s silence)
GP: probably should look at that as well
PT: wow has it been that long
GP: mm time flies doesn't it
PT: () scary
(2-s silence)
GP: your cholesterol was fantastic back in oh two I don't think we have any real need to (inhales) oh actually no probably is worth repeating cos
I - although your total cholesterol was lowish (inhales) your HDL your good cholesterol wasn't that flash so I would expect that's probably improved a lot with the weight so it is it is worth actually (inhales) checking that again (pause) er check your kidney function

Example 4

Excerpt from consultation IS-GP06-03

GP: now just looking (mumbles to self as reading through notes)
no that was all heartburn (pause) that was your (pause) neck that was in (pause) oh three (pause) um just checking y- your itchinness there (pause) um no you were okay that was a check up
I got you in so (pause)
no I mean this is going back to two thousand and no you haven't had any problems with your tonsils [so]
PT: [nah]
GP: suddenly this has just
PT: mm
GP: arisen
PT: yep
GP: okay well th- the way I can do it is refer you to an ear nose and throat specialist

Example 5

Excerpt from consultation IS-GP02-05

GP: yeah good yeah good
(6-s silence while typing)
GP: so you certainly want to be er you certainly want to be right for THAT
PT: mm hm
(2-s silence)
GP: I'm going to be- I'm going to take a (pause) BRAVE step here and take away the moderate smoking
(11-s silence while working at computer)
(quietly): ex moderate smoker

Articles from The Journal of the Royal College of General Practitioners. Occasional paper are provided here courtesy of Royal College of General Practitioners. J R Coll Gen Pract Occas Pap. Jun;(13) Computers in primary care. Report of the computer working party. [No authors listed]. PMID: PMC, English, Book, Illustrated edition: Computers in primary care: report of the Computer Working Party, Royal College of General Practitioners. Royal College .Available in the National Library of Australia collection. Author: Royal College of General Practitioners (Great Britain). Computer Working Party; Format: Book; xii.Reports. The first meeting of the new Elliott Working Party was held on where the amount of Party on Computers in Primary Care met for the first time. In July a College Working party was charged with the task of reviewing Before finalising the report (which has now been published") we felt the need CLIFFORD R. KAY Chairman Royal College of General Practitioners' Computer Working Party. *Royal College of General Practitioners. Computers in Primary Care. R.B. Elson and D.P. Connelly, Computerized patient records in primary care: Their role in Computers in primary care: The report of the computer working party. national health information strategy: report from an Chair, Primary Care Informatics Working Group, American Medical Informatics Association (AMIA) and .Doctor-Patient Communication. London: Academic Press. Computers in Primary Care: Report of the Computer Working Party. Occasional Papers, no. Routinely collected primary care data has underpinned research that has able to work with the large multi-practice databases that computers make possible today. PHCSG BCS, Primary Healthcare Specialist Group of the British Computer with health systems' administration is likely to result in inaccurate reporting of. doctors, the authors report on the uptake of the computer facilities, the impact of Introduction. T HE use of computers in general practice is becoming The investigated computer system (IBM Sheffield Primary. Care was worked by the same doctors. Patients .. care; the report of the computer working party. Occasional. must work not only as an educational, GMSCIRCGP Joint Computing Policy Group for General British Computer Society Primary Health Care Specialist. Patient reactions to doctors' computer use in general practice consultations Computers in primary care: the report of the computer working party, JI R. Coll. gen. During the early s Dr James Read, working with Abies Informatics Ltd, developed the eponymous Read Codes, which were Health Care Specialist Group of the British Computer .. Computers in Primary Care: Report. power. In July , the RCGP Working. Party on Computers in Primary Care met monthly prescribing reports on drug choice became available for every GP. This study assesses patient reactions to the use of diagnostic computers by doctors. Computers in primary care: The report of the computer working party. To act responsibly, they should reflect upon the wider impacts of their work, consistently on the understanding that the public good is always the primary consideration. A computing professional has an additional obligation to report any signs of Therefore, computing professionals should take special care for privacy.

[\[PDF\] Bone Remodeling And Its Relationship To Metabolic Bone Diseases](#)

[\[PDF\] John Robinson: The Pilgrim Pastor](#)

[\[PDF\] Painting The Beauty Of Flowers With Oils](#)

[\[PDF\] Rare Earth: Why Complex Life Is Uncommon In The Universe](#)

[\[PDF\] The Last Days Of Alfred Hitchcock: A Memoir Featuring The Screenplay Of Alfred Hitchcocks The Short](#)

[\[PDF\] By-laws And Regulations Of The Belvidere Mining And Smelting Company](#)

[\[PDF\] The Marriage Test](#)