

Critical Focus: An Introduction To Film

SOCIOLOGY A GLOBAL INTRODUCTION
5TH EDITION

John J. Macdonis is Professor of Sociology at Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio.

Ken Plummer is Emeritus Professor of Sociology at the University of Essex.

Sociology: A Global Introduction represents a unique, lively and complete learning resource for sociology students worldwide. International in outlook and culturally wide-ranging, it is unrivalled in breadth. It helps you to develop a critical sociological imagination and a better understanding of the challenges and joys of living in the 21st century.

5th edition highlights include:

- > a story of how societies change that runs throughout the book
- > increased coverage and active, integrated engagement with theory and theorists throughout
- > a key focus on the recent global, cultural and digital 'turns' in social analysis
- > a link to the humanities concerned with art, history, film and literature
- > an explicit link to the core debates over values and politics in sociology in the modern world
- > fully updated statistics, maps, references and text throughout
- > thought-provoking images and maps to foster a sense of the developing 'visual sociology'
- > new 'hot' topics including digital methods, celebrities, citizenship and the sociology of happiness

Critical engagement

- > This is an active book that helps you do sociology and think creatively. It is packed full of tips and resources to work with. Four features stress this:
 - > MytaskList ends each chapter with ten things to do: questions to ask, websites to investigate, films and DVDs to watch, major debates to engage with
 - > Project Interludes link sections and integrate the parts through specific suggestions for students to research sport, food, music and biography
 - > Critical Thinking (Part 6) is a detailed closing section which integrates the book to the website and brings together a major web bibliography, films, YouTube videos, artwork, key statistics and glossary – a major support for all students
 - > A wide range of discussion boxes – on new developments in the twenty-first century, social theory and research methods – encourage broad and critical engagement with the issues

The website

This major supporting website resource is closely integrated with Part 6 (Critical Thinking) of the book – use them independently or (for best results) together. You'll find:

- > major links to key websites, art, novels and films – all will enhance your research and sociological thinking
- > interactive self-test exercises, additional readings and podcasts from the author and students around the world
- > The Sociology Blog: check this regularly for current and 'hot' topics to update your knowledge
- > key sociological concepts explored
- > PowerPoints and revision cards
- > Go to: www.pearsoned.co.uk/plummer

The key resource to help you do sociology – thinking, studying, investigating and interacting as a sociologist.
